

PMC ONE BILION

THE YEARBOOK

2024

A HISTORY OF GIVING

The Pan-Mass Challenge raises money for life-saving cancer research at Dana-Farber Cancer Institute through a collection of bike rides that cross the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. Since its founding in 1980, the PMC has successfully melded support from committed cyclists, volunteers, corporate sponsors and individual contributors.

All are essential to the PMC's goal and model: to attain maximum fundraising efficiency while increasing its annual gift. Our hope and aspiration is to provide Dana-Farber's doctors and researchers the necessary resources to discover cures for all cancers.

TO THE PMC COMMUNITY:

Forty-five years to surpass $1 billion. What an extraordinary achievement by all those involved since 1980! Few were paying attention back in 1980 when, on behalf of 36 riders and 10 volunteers, I presented a $10,200 check to Ken Coleman in the Jimmy Fund parking lot on Binney Street. Looking back, the check was modest, but our aspirations were grander!

Much has changed since then. I am fond of saying, there's a lot riding on us! Never has that statement rung truer. The PMC now represents 66 percent of the Jimmy Fund's annual revenue. We fund more than 700 initiatives at the Dana-Farber and are a part of the foundation leading to a new cancer hospital that will be built on Dana-Farber's Longwood campus.

Looking back, I still marvel at how the PMC has evolved from a few friends to a local phenomenon, to a celebrated event that is embedded in the core of the American cycling community. What a special role and responsibility we now have as the go-to ride for those who want to pair their passion for cycling with a grand pursuit. Got a bike? Got cancer in your life? Get to Massachusetts and ride the PMC.

Nobody could have foreseen that in 1980. It took all of us to show the world *what a bike was meant to do...*and we have. Thank you.

See you on the road,

WE ARE ONE IN A BILLION

PAN-MASS CHALLENGE 2024

Since 2003, the Red Sox Foundation has been a critical partner to the PMC. As a lifelong presenting sponsor, the Foundation has helped raise over $631 million for the PMC, most of which goes directly to much-needed cancer care and research. In 2024, Team 9's 28 riders, including senior executives Jonathan Gilula, Bekah Salwasser and Adam Grossman, raised over $600,000. Here is to continued success in 2025!

OVER $1 BILLION RAISED
FOR DANA-FARBER CANCER INSTITUTE
SINCE 1980.

M&T Bank

2024 marked M&T Bank's third year as the co-presenting sponsor of the PMC. M&T Bank's team of 33 riders included senior executives CEO René Jones (PMC Board Member) and Massachusetts Regional President Grace Lee. Additionally, 100+ M&T employees volunteered to prepare for and support PMC weekend. We are thrilled to provide resources both in sponsorship of the PMC and by fundraising for Dana-Farber's lifesaving cancer research, and in 2024 we raised to more than $188,000. We look forward to continuing our involvement in this great event and we recently committed to continuing our sponsorship through 2027.

A letter from
Benjamin L. Ebert, MD, PhD
President and CEO, Dana-Farber Cancer Institute

DEAR PMC FAMILY:

Each and every Pan-Mass Challenge is profoundly inspiring because there is nothing like the PMC—anywhere.

As a six-year rider, I have experienced the unparalleled commitment and camaraderie of the PMC community firsthand. From dedicated riders and volunteers to steadfast sponsors and generous supporters—you all energize me and everyone at Dana-Farber Cancer Institute, especially the patients who benefit most from your exceptional efforts.

2024 was special even by the PMC's lofty standards, with a record $75 million gift, and over $1 billion in cumulative funds raised since 1980. Such extraordinary support has had a profound impact at and beyond Dana-Farber, enabling our reach and growth to expand in an order of magnitude we have only begun to imagine.

At this inflection point, it is a privilege to step into the role of Dana-Farber President and CEO. I am honored to follow my predecessor and fellow PMC rider, Dr. Laurie Glimcher. Fueled by her leadership and The Dana-Farber Campaign—our historic fundraising effort powered in part by PMC support—the Institute has grown tremendously and accelerated momentum against cancer.

Consider the following points of progress that funding from the PMC has helped to advance over the past seven years:

Dana-Farber investigators drove the development of over half of all cancer drugs approved by the FDA in the past five years. This includes tovotafenib, the first-ever systemic therapy for the treatment of BRAF-rearranged pediatric low-grade gliomas, which was propelled specifically by PMC support.

Dana-Farber built three new world-class patient care facilities, increasing patient volume by 51% and bringing care closer to home for more people across New England.

The Institute improved access to care by doubling the size of its Cancer Care Equity Program, hiring six new community-facing patient navigators and spearheading over 90 studies and pilot programs to better understand and reduce health disparities.

Dana-Farber strengthened its world-class team by more than doubling the number of endowed positions—including the new Meredith and Billy Starr Investigatorship—enabling the Institute to attract and retain the best talent.

These are just a few of many advances fueled by funding from the PMC. Imagine how much more we can achieve with your partnership—more next-generation cancer drugs and immunotherapies, more access to care, more screenings for early detection and prevention, more artificial intelligence and data science tools, and more talent united against cancer. You are unlocking these powerful possibilities, and I am proud to work and ride with you in pursuing our shared mission together.

On behalf of the entire Dana-Farber family, thank you always for your extraordinary and enduring commitment.

Gratefully,

Benjamin L. Ebert, MD, PhD

PMC IMPACT

"I ride in honor of the young people I take care of in the Jimmy Fund Clinic and their families. The PMC's Team Precision for Kids (P4K) supports research into the best way to profile the cancer genetic code to enable doctors to take better care of patients, directly resulting in more effective cancer treatments with fewer side effects.

2024 was a big year for P4K supported work. 825 children have been able to participate in the iCat study thanks to PMC funds and are directly benefiting! Like Jack: at 9 months old he was found to have a huge cancerous tumor extending from his belly to his leg. The tumor did not shrink with chemotherapy and was not able to be removed via surgery because of its size. Things did not look good. The P4K supported program led to a medication taken by mouth that directly counteracted the gene abnormality making the cancer grow. This new treatment not only had fewer side effects than chemotherapy, but it also shrank the tumor significantly. His pain decreased, he started walking, the tumor was successfully removed, and he is doing great!

We've also entered a new phase of the work where we can use a simple blood draw instead of a tumor biopsy to identify the genes in the tumor. Recently, this new approach led to new treatment and new hope for a child with advanced cancer with no other options."

*Dr. Katherine Janeway, 6-year PMC Living Proof and Team Precision for KIDS rider
Pediatric Hematology/Oncology Physician, DFCI*

"As many of you know, some stage-four cancers are incurable, and as such, stability rather than remission is the goal. For two and a half years, my cancer had either been shrinking or stable. But last week during my regular scans, I had my first real progression—three-plus new growths in my liver. And you know what? I wasn't scared. Unlike the very, very terrified 28-year-old I was in December of 2021 facing a stage-four cancer diagnosis and an unknown future, when I saw my results last week, I realized that no part of me was scared. Not even a little bit. And I sure as hell was still riding today.

And that's literally thanks to Dana-Farber, thanks to the PMC.

Because of the money we raise that directly contributes to Dana-Farber-driven research, leading to more and more novel therapeutic breakthroughs, I have more lines of treatment available to me than fingers on my hand.

Finishing in P-Town last year, I knew immediately that as long as my legs and spine work like they should, I will be a PMC rider for life, because it really is that incredible."

An excerpt from the Living Proof toast given by Dena Ofengeim, 2-year PMC Living Proof and Team Breast Friends rider, at Mass Maritime.

In April of 2024 the FDA approved tovotafenib (Ojemda), the first-ever systemic therapy for the treatment of BRAF-rearranged pediatric low-grade gliomas.

Dr. Mimi Bandopadhyay, who co-leads the Low-Grade Glioma Program at Dana-Farber, said because of Ojemda, children whose tumors were not responding to chemotherapy have an option that is shrinking their tumors, improving the side effects and boosting their quality of lives. They are enjoying the life that children are meant to lead wherever they are. "It doesn't matter where you live. Anyone can access the drug now. It's for everyone," she said.

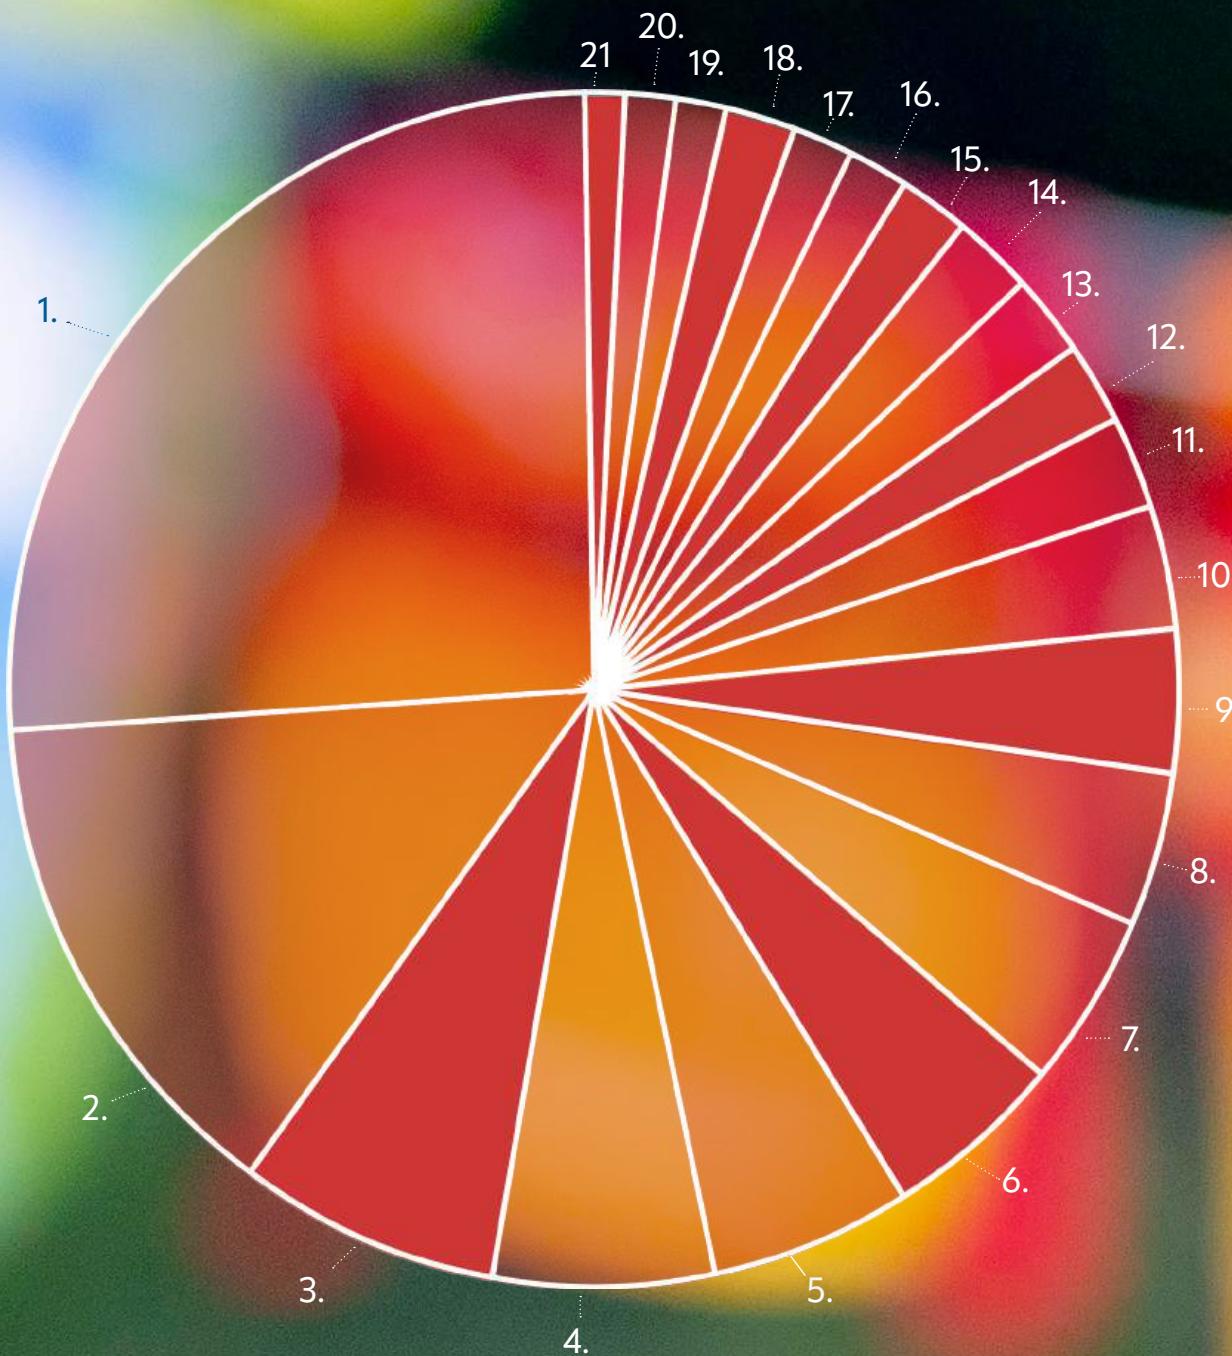

Over the years, a number of Pan-Mass Challenge teams have dedicated their fundraising—millions of dollars—to the lab. These teams, their riders, Pedal Partners and donors share in the success: Team Nathan, Team Kermit, Team BrainStorms and more.

Dr. Mimi believes that PMC donations were "essential" in the testing and development of Ojemda. "This drug would 100% not have happened without the PMC."

The Pan-Mass Challenge raises funds for Dana-Farber Cancer Institute and the Jimmy Fund's lifesaving mission to conquer cancer. In 2024, committed riders, donors, sponsors, and volunteers joined together to contribute $75 million, which is 66% of the Jimmy Fund annual revenue. WE ARE LIVING PROOF

The 2024 PMC was a milestone year for #TeamPwC. With over 70 riders and volunteers, the team raised a record-breaking $560,000, contributing to the PMC's incredible $1 billion milestone in cumulative fundraising. This year marked PwC's 14th year of participation, with over $4.6 million raised to date, showcasing their unwavering commitment to making a difference.

Fueled by the stories of the Living Proof Community, #TeamPwC pedaled for family, friends, and those unable to ride. Each mile was a testament to their resilience, unity, and purpose. The PMC is more than a ride—it's a movement. #TeamPwC is proud to be part of this

"I'm honored and humbled to be representing the Living Proof team here tonight. I'm pretty damn proud to be part of this community and to be riding bikes with all of you. I feel immense gratitude to be able to do so."

I am here, every day a defiant F-U to cancer, every pedal stroke moving towards growing this Living Proof team, together with all of you.

So, let's raise a glass, to my birthday, to every single one of the Living Proof birthdays and to all those whose birthdays ended too soon.

In 2004, PMC rider Pete Locke started Team Daisy in honor of his daughter Margaret, nicknamed Daisy, who was diagnosed with a pediatric brain tumor at age two.

Although aggressive treatment drove the cancer into remission, it left Daisy with significant physical and intellectual challenges.

Daisy endured many medical procedures in the ensuing years, always demonstrating remarkable grace and courage. Rather than let this tragic development define his life, or Daisy's, Pete started Team Daisy with three objectives:

to honor his precious daughter, to raise money for research and treatment so that someday two-year olds will not suffer the same fate as Daisy, and to create a network of friends who would support Daisy.

These friends embraced the importance of funding research and treatment at Dana-Farber Cancer Institute and developed a strong bond through participating in the PMC.

The PMC was the motivating force in Pete's life and he worked tirelessly each year to add to the team, organize training rides and work out all the travel and logistics for PMC weekend. As a result of those efforts, Team Daisy grew from two riders its first year to 65 riders in 2024.

Despite many challenges, including the devastating loss of his wife and his own diagnosis of pancreatic cancer, Pete never wavered from being positive and living his life in service to others. He participated in dozens and dozens of charity rides, always stayed positive and optimistic, and motivated and inspired others to give back.

Pete passed away from pancreatic cancer this past January and Daisy died last July only days after celebrating her 30th birthday. At his memorial service, a joyous celebration, hundreds of his charity ride bike jerseys were hung along the tent and everyone in attendance was encouraged to take one to wear on a ride in the future and to Live Like Pete.

The 2024 PMC was an especially emotional weekend for Team

Daisy as they reflected on all that Pete and Daisy added to their lives.

In remembrance of Daisy and Pete, a member of Team Daisy made an anonymous $100,000 gift to the PMC in their honor.

LANDRY'S BICYCLES

As a long-time supporter of the PMC, Landry's Bicycles' culture of local, home-grown, and employee-owned shines brightest while supporting riders participating in PMC events. With over half of our staff volunteering throughout the year, and many employees participating as riders, PMC is close to our hearts. We treasure the stories that riders share with us as well as overcoming mechanical challenges that arise to ensure riders can finish the journey they began. PMC's impact on the community resonates with us as Landry's employee-owners are on a mission to improve lives and grow ridership by promoting bicycling for fun, fitness, and transportation.

"My role as Team Duncan captain is a true gift. I love to encourage and motivate new and alumni riders to be an instrumental part of the PMC community including Winter Cycle, PMC and Unpaved. I challenge our team to hit and exceed our individual and team goals in a fun supportive environment. We ride hard and play hard to support the PMC mission and provide hope to all cancer patients including our amazing Pedal Partner Norma-Rose!"

Since Samuel Adams was founded in 1984, our passion for never settling and brewing quality, flavorful beers have been at the heart of our journey, starting with our brewer and founder Jim Koch.

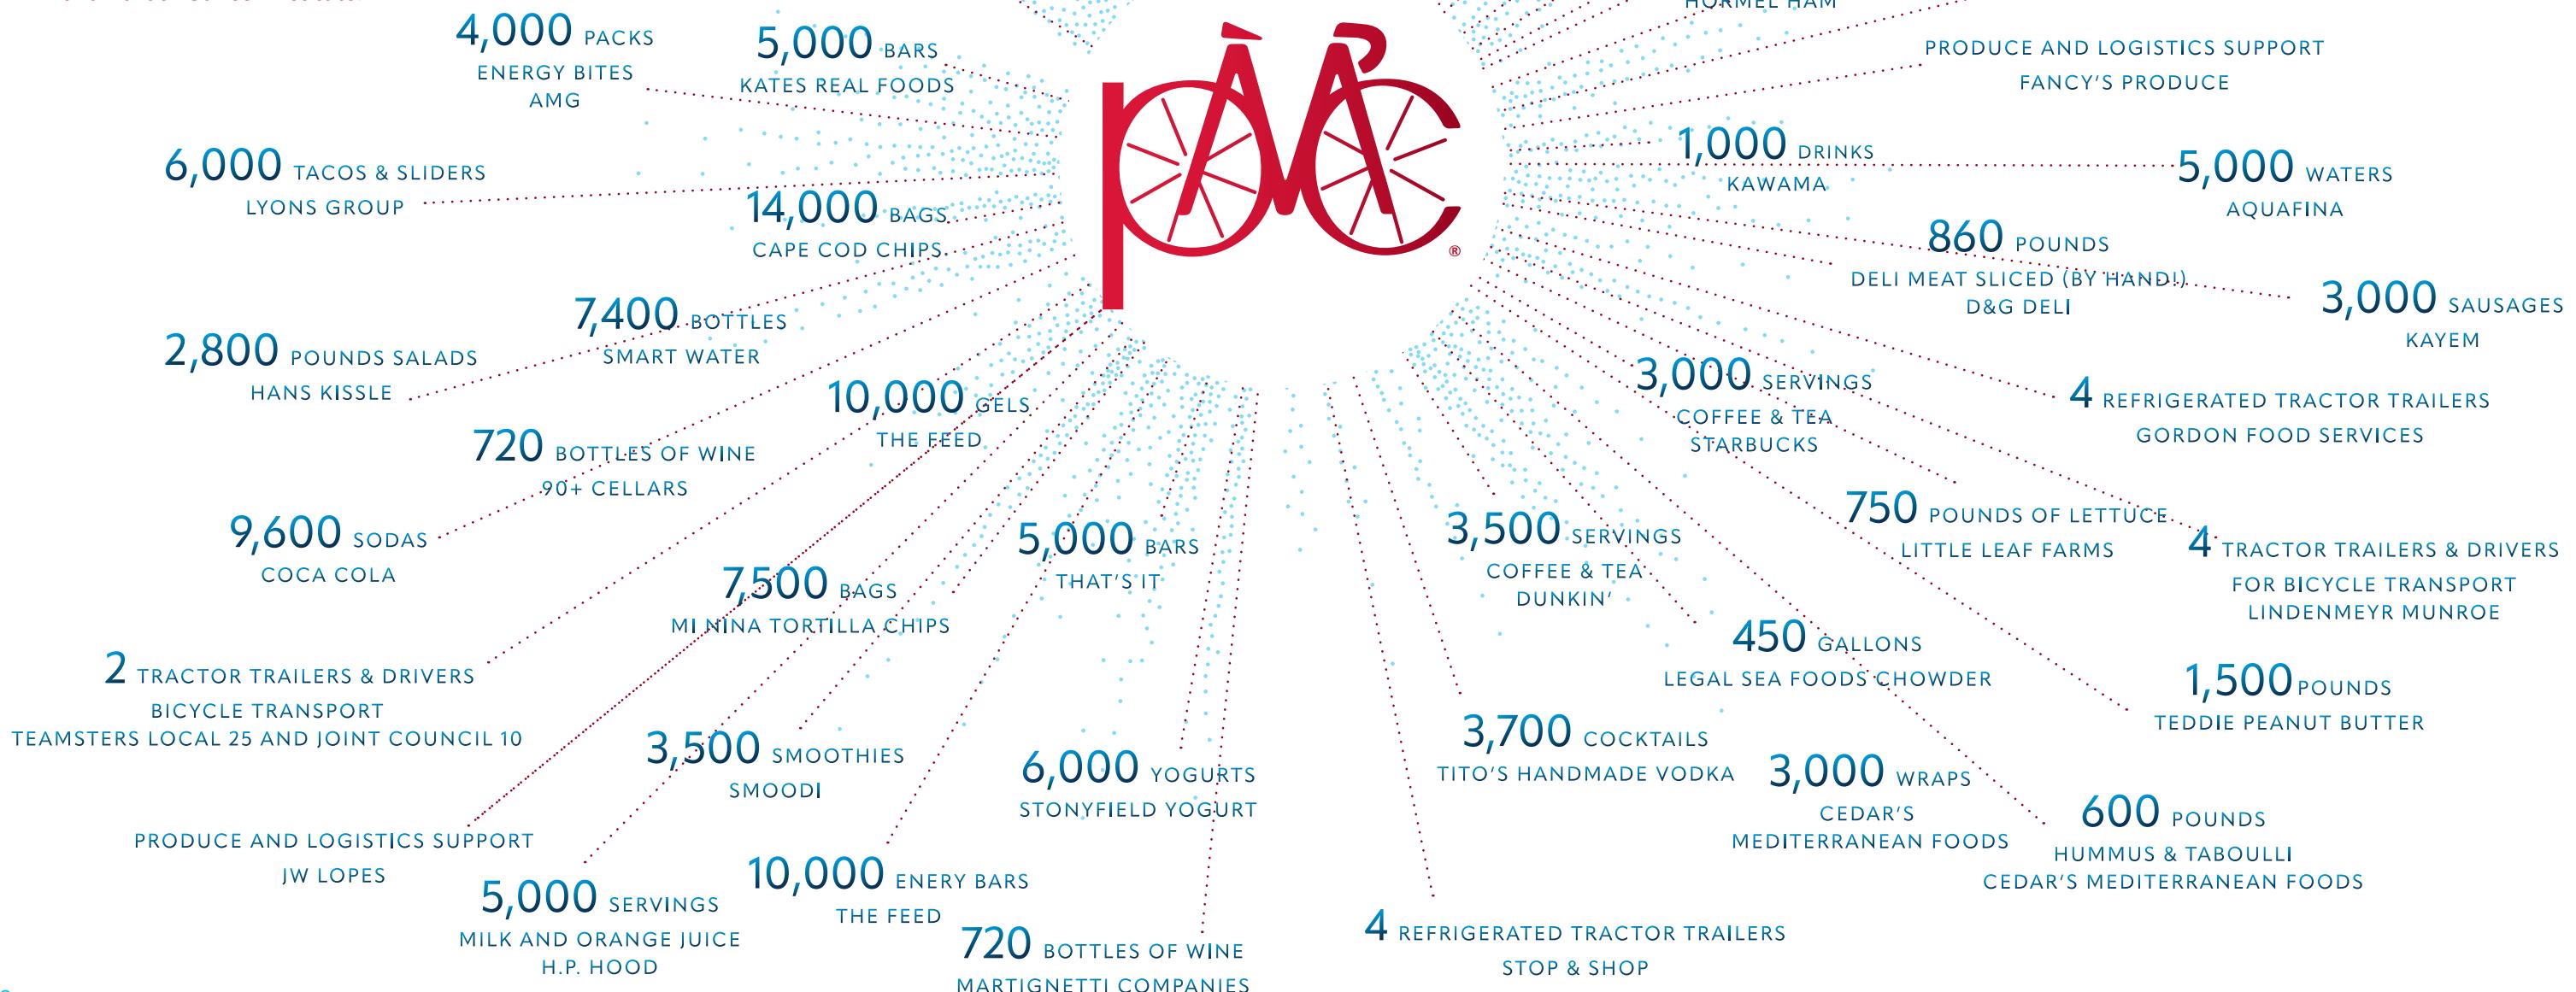

He brewed his first batch of Boston Lager in his kitchen using a generations-old family recipe. In the same way that the PMC believes in supporting the community, Samuel Adams is dedicating to offering the best beer options to the public. As a proud partner of the PMC, we look forward to celebrating the continued success of the riders and the generous donations in the never-ending battle to help find a cure for cancer. It's an honor and privilege to collaborate with an organization with such strong convictions to support the community. Cheers!

PMC BY THE NUMBERS

Glynn Hawley, the PMC's Director of Operations, likes to joke that on his first ride in 1997, he rode nearly 200 miles and still managed to gain weight. Thanks to the overwhelming generosity of in-kind donations, PMC riders are VERY well fed. But it takes a community to feed nearly 7,000 riders over the span of three days.

Each and every single donated item helps to ensure that the PMC passes through 100% of every rider-raised dollar to Dana-Farber Cancer Institute.

PMC PEDAL PARTNERS

The Pedal Partner Program continues to inspire PMC riders to train, ride and fundraise. 79 Pedal Partners, pediatric oncology patients at Dana-Farber's Jimmy Fund Clinic, were matched with PMC, PMC Winter Cycle, and PMC Unpaved teams and riders as well as PMC Kids Rides who rode in their honor.

YAWKEY FOUNDATION

Access to high quality health care was deeply important to Jean and Tom Yawkey during their lifetimes. In 1953, the Yawkeys first lent their support to Dr. Sidney Farber, and as owners of the Boston Red Sox (1933-2002), the couple initiated the Red Sox relationship with Dana-Farber and The Jimmy Fund, a partnership that endures to this day.

The Yawkey Foundation is proud once again to be the Presenting Sponsor of the 2024 PMC Kids Rides, and part of the team developing the next generation of riders to help in the fight against cancer.

OOFOS®

As the Official Recovery Footwear of the PMC, OOFOS is committed to raising cancer research funds in memory of one of our first employees, Duncan Finigan. Each year, a team of employees rides to Provincetown in her honor as members of Team Duncan — a tradition started by Duncan and CEO Lou Panaccione in 2015. OOFOS also provides a corporate matching program for funds raised by the OOFOS team. The PMC is part of OOFOS' larger year-round commitment, called Project Pink, where OOFOS donates a percentage of all sales made on OOFOS.com to DFCI and the Jimmy Fund. To date, over $4.5 million has been donated for patient care and breast cancer research.

PRIMAL

At Primal Wear, we are incredibly honored to be a part of the PMC and to support the inspiring teams and riders who make this event so impactful. The dedication and passion of every participant is truly inspiring, as they come together to raise funds for cancer research and make a real difference in the fight against cancer. We feel privileged to provide the gear that fuels riders, knowing that each mile they pedal brings hope and progress. Being involved with the PMC allows us to witness firsthand the strength and commitment of a community united for a cause greater than any one individual, and we are grateful to play a role in this meaningful journey.

PMC STAFF SPOTLIGHT MICHELE SOMMER

In the early 1990s I was living in New York when my boyfriend (now husband) found out that his mom had lymphoma and was running out of options. A true warrior, she didn't accept the diagnosis and was entered into a radical trial for a bone marrow transplant at Dana-Farber. Visiting her at DFCI was so scary yet deeply inspiring as they delivered the miracle of 25 more years of life.

In 1996 my husband Chet's best friend asked us to support his first PMC ride. We hadn't heard of the PMC but of course, supported him. The following year, Chet, a former bike racer, registered to ride and hasn't missed a PMC since. I jumped on board in 1999. As our three sons grew up, they too rode, volunteered, interned and roped their friends into the PMC. My siblings, in-laws, nieces and nephews have all been pulled into the PMC vortex. Together, 14 family members have participated in the PMC for a combined 113 years and feel blessed to be a part of something so moving and powerful.

In 2012 I joined the PMC staff as Director of Administration—I knew that this was the perfect position as I had come from a background in public accounting and had always appreciated not only the PMC's mission but its exemplary efficiency enabling it to pass through 100% of every rider raised dollar. I thought that while there are many worthwhile organizations with impactful missions, none of them compare to the PMC and how much it means to me and my family. I often ride my bike to the office, and feel so fortunate to work at the PMC where so many people come together to do so much good.

BEKAH SALWASSER

This year, Bekah Salwasser, the Red Sox Foundation's executive director and Red Sox executive vice president of social impact will ride her first PMC with Team 9.

"I think it's time for me to feel the magic of the ride," Salwasser said.
She calls it a privilege to leverage the Red Sox's platform to support Dana-Farber and the researchers whose work is saving lives. Salwasser has participated in the PMC Winter Cycle, the PMC's spin fundraiser (which takes place at Fenway Park), served on the PMC Advisory Board and is now on the organization's Board of Directors.

Salwasser, a Boston native, played soccer as a child and teenager, as a Division 1 athlete at Brown University, and as a pro on the Boston Breakers. She is used to 90-minute games once a week.

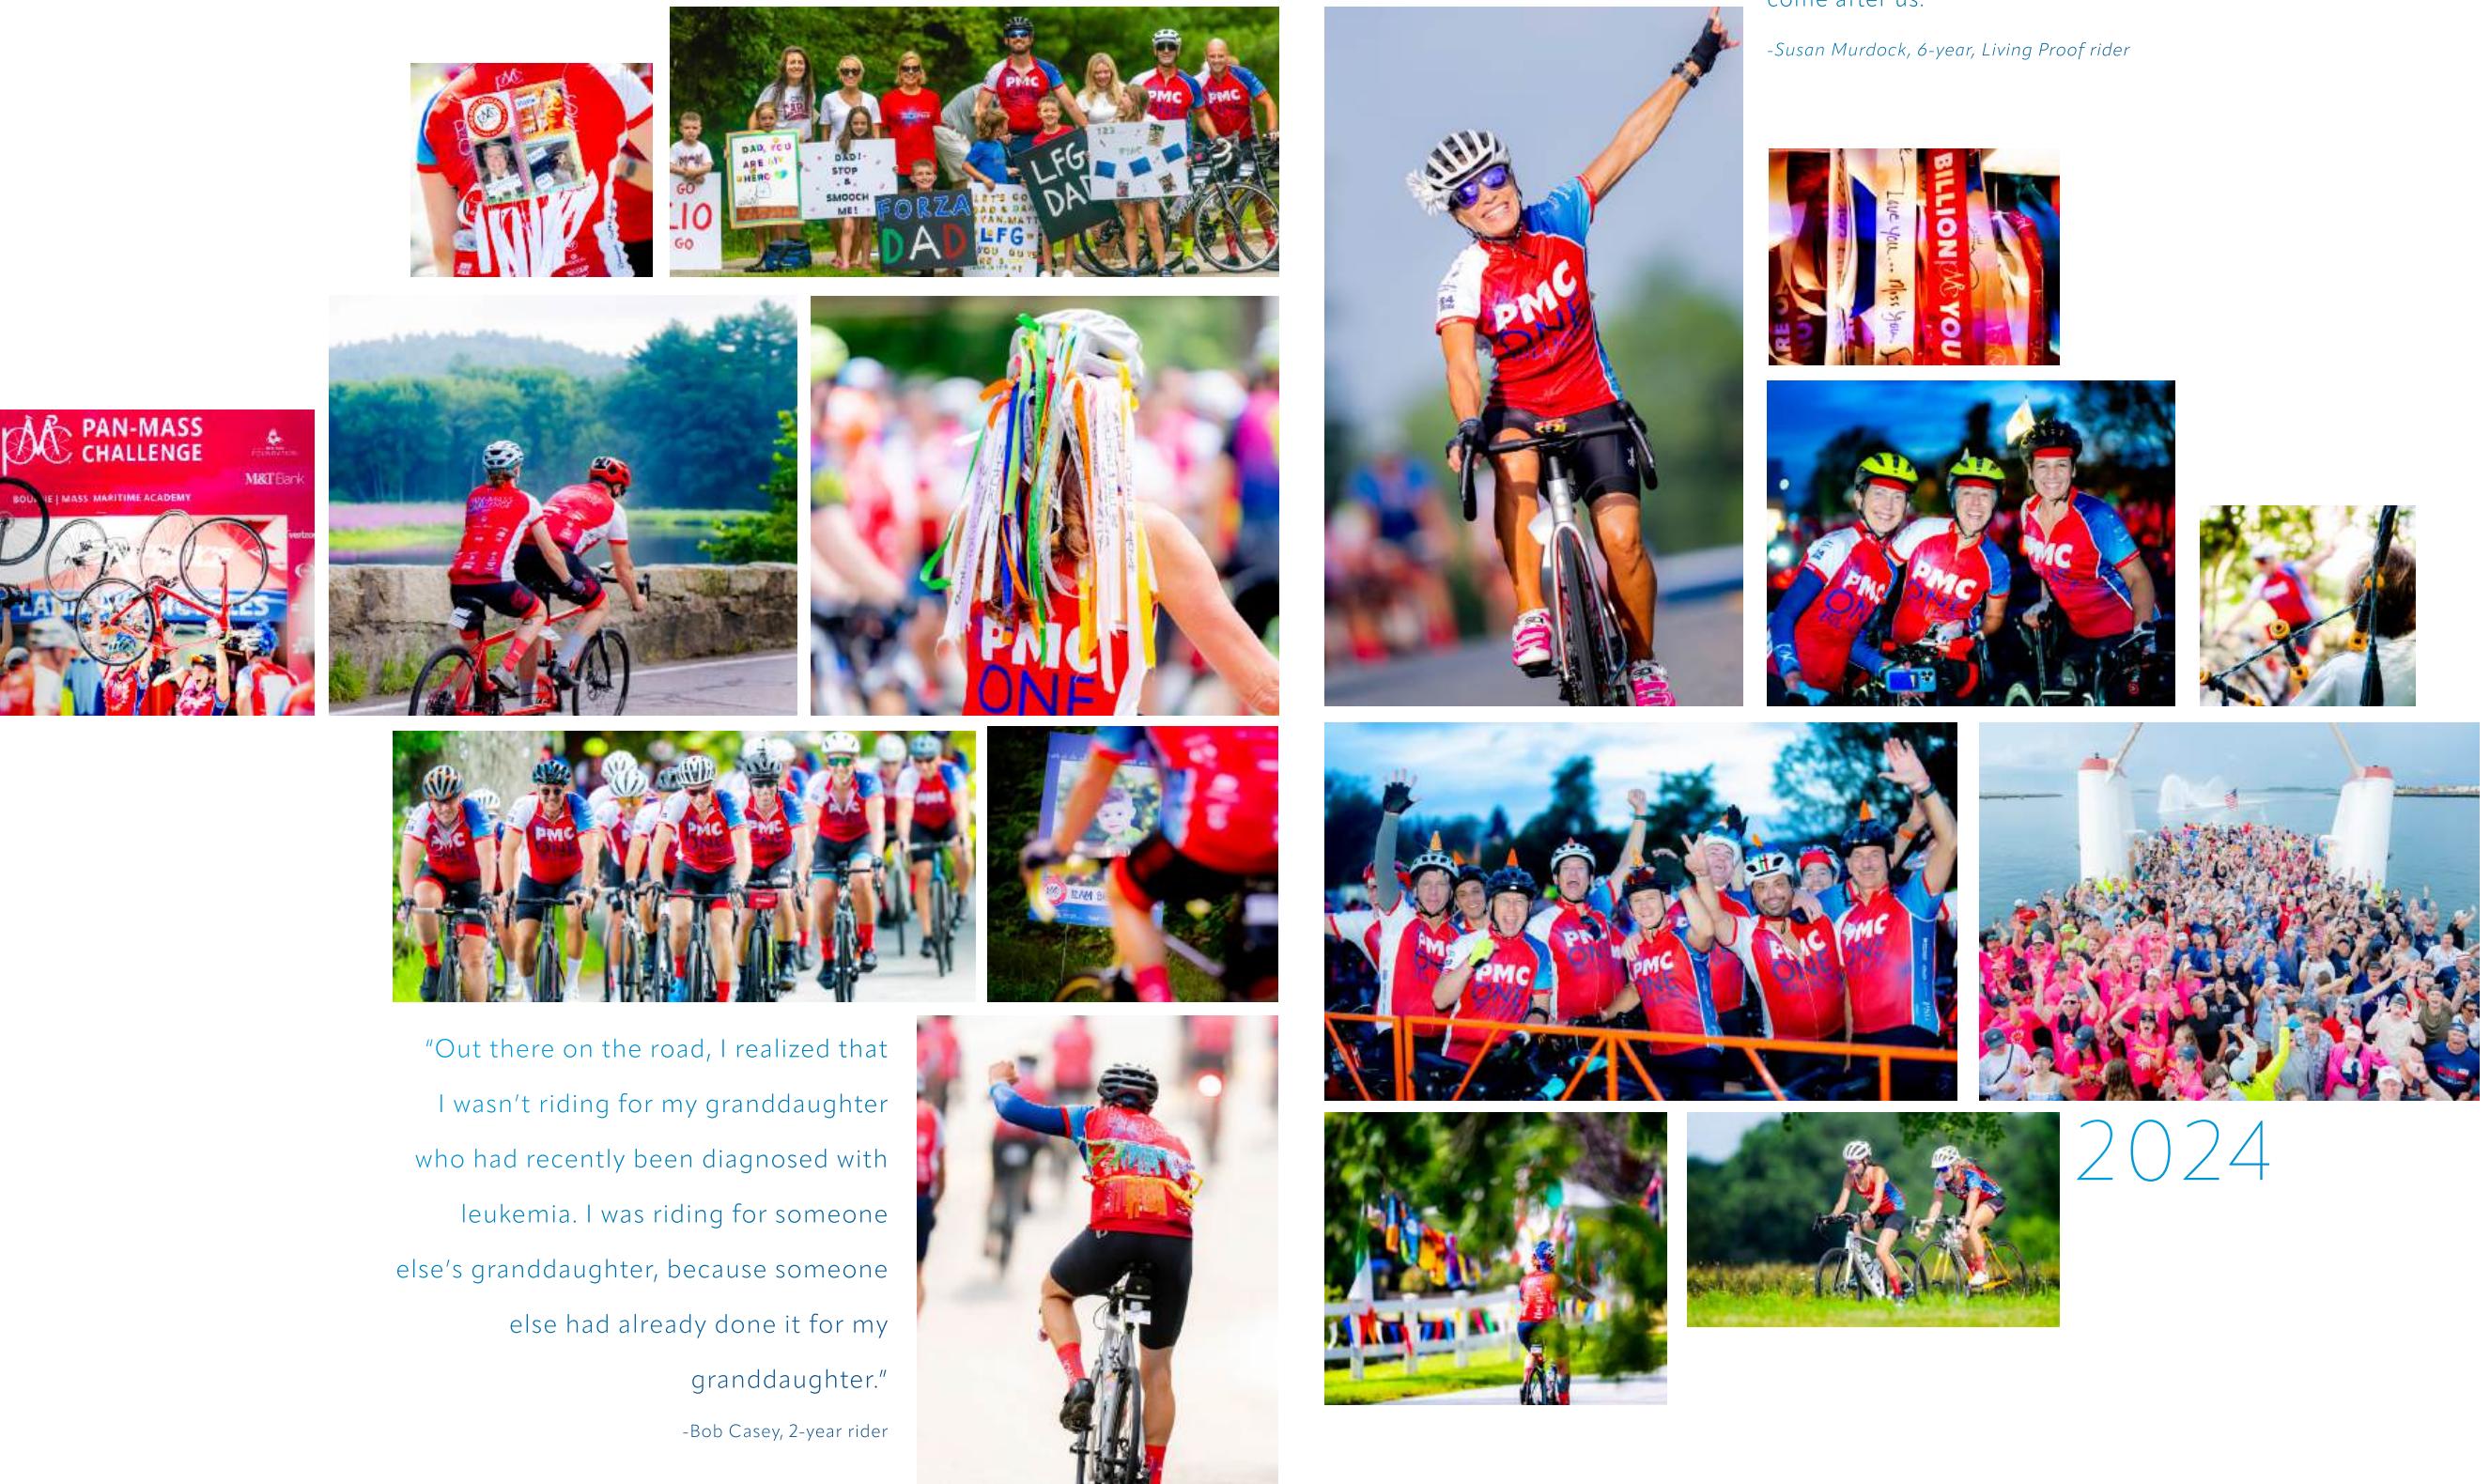

"This will be an interesting challenge for me. A two-day ride that's so endurance-focused, that's group-focused and riding for a fundraising challenge. I'm just excited for all angles of it," Salwasser said. She anticipates sharing a sense of accomplishment at the finish line with the other riders and a special moment with her husband Zak and their three children. Calvin, Niko and Evie will be waiting for her in Provincetown.

As reported by Lisa Hughes, WBZ-TV, July 2024
The Red Sox Foundation is a Co-Presenting Sponsor of the PMC.

BJ TYNAN: SAFETY FIRST

34-years ago, Chris McKeown, the PMC's first full-time staff member, was donating platelets at Dana-Farber where BJ Tynan worked as a nurse. He sold her on volunteering with the PMC and she's never looked back. Five years after that date, she became the PMC's Medical Coordinator and has helped develop the PMC's medical response across all PMC events.

Medical on PMC weekend runs the gamut from Tylenol to major medical transfers, and BJ coordinates it all from the Command Center at Mass Maritime Academy. Though much has changed over the years: "We've come out of the dark ages," she reflects. "When I first started there were only four of us in Command with hand radios. It was incredibly difficult to communicate with town officials and medical staff." Now there are 40 people in the room, many of whom are skilled in the field. There are even three nurses on staff so that if anyone calls in with a medical question, it can be answered on the spot. Every call and incident is now documented and tracked to make sure that riders get the best care possible.

BJ believes the whole point of her job is to get riders to their goal—and safely. She and her small army of volunteers across PMC sites do everything in their power to do just that.

Her favorite part of PMC weekend is the hushed darkness of Sunday morning at Mass Maritime. At 4:30, she staffs the medical tent handing out Band-Aids and Tylenol to riders eager to start their second day. It's the one part of the weekend that she interacts with riders, and though most have already ridden nearly 100 miles and have another hundred to go, she's humbled by how kind and thankful they all are.

So if you're at Mass Maritime on Sunday morning, say hello to BJ in the medical tent. That Band-Aid just might be the thing that gets you to the finish line.

BJ Tynan (second to left) with David Hellman, Allan Eyden and Richard Wells in the Command Center.

"The weekend is stressful, but it's an incredible experience."

And that's why we keep coming back."

BJ Tynan, PMC Head Staff Medical Coordinator

PMC LEGACY SOCIETY

"Cancer didn't have a major impact on me when I started riding the PMC at age 16, but it quickly became a brutal and harsh reality of life. Over the last 21 years, the PMC has become a part of my DNA. The ride is the catalyst, but the fundraising is really why I do it. Being part of the profound impact the PMC has on eradicating cancer globally drives me every day. One of my earliest memories of the PMC is reading a quote from Dr. Edward Benz, former President of Dana-Farber: "When they write the history of how cancer was conquered, the PMC will be in chapter one." I'm proud to know I'm a part of this movement and truly believe we get closer by the mile. I'm a member of the Legacy Society to ensure my support for the cause continues after I'm gone."

- Casey Antonelli, 17-year PMC rider

The commitment of PMC riders, volunteers, and donors is unmatched. The PMC Legacy Society recognizes the generosity of those among us who have named the PMC in their estate plans through a bequest in their will or as a beneficiary on a financial asset.

LIFETIME FUNDRAISING

* Reflects new to this level in 2024

The fight against cancer is not over until we find a cure, and we cannot achieve this tremendous aspiration alone. We know it takes each of us in the community joining efforts to facilitate meaningful change and improvement in cancer care, and a critical way to do this is through research. The PMC epitomizes the impact that can be made when individuals come together for a common cause, whether as donors, riders, volunteers, supporters or partners. Takeda is proud to return as a partner and sponsor of the PMC this year and to continue to be part of this community driving towards a shared mission of advancing research to cure cancer.

The PMC crossed an extraordinary milestone in 2024, raising over $1 billion for cancer research and treatment since the first ride in 1980. In commemoration, Dana-Farber cast PMC Chairman and Founder Billy Starr's well-worn cycling shoes in bronze—a lasting tribute to his vision and determination to get Closer by the Mile to finding cures, and the passion that sparked a collective movement of hope. The shoes are on display at Dana-Farber.

PMC: ONE WISE TRAIL

I have spoken previously how the PMC rooted itself in my brain while hiking the Appalachian Trail in 1976. So, while reading the hiking book called On Trails, by Robert Moor, I was struck by this passage:

"Any forest walker can tell you this—some trails simply work better. 'Wise' trails get better with time. So, what are the qualities that wise trails hold in common? What unites the wisest trails is a balance of three values: durability, efficiency, and flexibility. If a trail has only one of these qualities it will not persist for long: a trail that is too durable will be too fixed and will fail when conditions change; a trail that is too flexible will be too flimsy and will erode; and a trail that is too efficient will be too parsimonious, and so will lack resilience. A wise trail is in a constant state of 'world-testing,' adapting to the world even as its conditions change."

The PMC has been tested over decades, and is, without question, one of those wise trails. Its durability stems from a weekend that is uniquely forged by a mission that is truly urgent.

Our efficiency stems from a business model that has been in place from the PMC's humble beginnings: a lean professional staff, managing an army of resolute volunteers, backed by corporate underwriters.

And our flexibility is demonstrated by a broad menu of routes and fundraising options, embodied in a few familiar PMC mantras: pick a route and a fundraising minimum that fits your life. And, Commit: you'll figure it out. And you always have.

All of you, a billion dollars, and the extraordinary advancements that money has funded at Dana-Farber, are testament to that. I am so grateful to everyone who has helped us reach this extraordinary milestone. But the trail does not end here. We have our eyes on the future and that next billion which should only take us a third as long to achieve.

The PMC is a wise trail indeed.
